Russian Special Forces on Tuesday raided and destroyed an “Adrenochrome farm” near the Ukrainian city of Shostka, where sinister forces tortured abducted Russian children to harvest fluid from their adrenal glands, said a Mar-a-Lago source who claims Russian President Vladimir Putin informed President Trump of the operation after Spetznas had rescued 50 young kids from the ghastly laboratory.

As reported early last year, Trump and Putin kept an open conduit of communication after the latter began his “special military operation” in Ukraine. Putin had assured Trump that his true impetus for deploying troops was to rid Eastern Europe of Western pestilence, meaning Deep State-controlled bioweapon facilities and child trafficking rings, both of which, Putin said at the time, threatened Russian sovereignty. As time passed, their conversations became less frequent, but Putin has periodically updated Trump on progress, our source said.

The maligned Russian president told Trump that the FSB, Russia’s Federal Security Service, had heard of the lab’s existence and whereabouts only a few days before he greenlit a mission to infiltrate the laboratory, collect evidence, save any children within, and utterly destroy the facility.

Fifty Children were in a medically induced coma when Spetznas breached the lab and shot dead eight “technicians” who had been milling about or inserting long needles into the kidney area of comatose children. Each child was fastened to a metal gurney.

Putin reportedly said he believed that the abductees were Russian children who had been kidnapped from cities and towns that straddle the Russia-Ukraine border. He also said two of the eight “technicians” were from the West—one an American immunologist with ties to the NIH; the other a Brit who had worked at the UK Health Security Agency. Medical paraphernalia—beakers, tubing, syringes, microscopes, centrifuges, autoclaves, etc.—had come from supply companies in the United States.

“Putin inferred a theory: that the Deep State, with Volodymyr Zelensky’s blessing, moved some or all its adrenochrome refinement to Ukraine, because they’re afraid to do it in the states cause the Constitutionalist faction of the U.S. military, or White Hats, are hunting them down. Then the refined product is shipped to the U.S. or picked up by Deep Staters visiting Ukraine,” our source said.

Putin, he added, told Trump the Deep State is irrepressible and, therefore, must be “crushed,” and boasted about “crushing” dozens of traitors within his own government. “Traitors sometimes have accidental fall out window,” he said.

He described the Deep State as a universal malevolent entity bent on enslaving the planet and subjugating humanity to its capricious whims.

“We’re fighting the same enemy,” Trump said to him. “But I need to be very careful what I say here, especially now. I’m glad you saved the defenseless children. Adrenochrome’s been a huge problem here for a very long time.”

Putin said his forces turned the Adrenochrome lab “to dust” and reassured Trump that any stories of him being gravely sick or dead were CIA propaganda.

“The evil ones that do this to our children, President Trump, they are vampires,” Putin said.
